REPRESENTATIVE MATTERS

Employment Defense Matters:

- Represented a large insurance company in an action brought by an employee who alleged that he was injured on the job and was subjected to discrimination on the basis of gender, disability, and retaliation. With fourteen causes of action alleging various violations of the Americans with Disabilities Act ("ADA"), Title VII of the Civil Rights Acts of 1964 (Title VII), and the New York State Human Rights Law and fifty million dollars in compensatory damages sought on each count, plus attorney's fees and injunctive relief, Ms. Taylor was able to achieve a favorable resolution for the client.
- Represented a Global Fortune 500 Company in an action brought by a former employee in United States District Court alleging violations of the Americans With Disabilities Act ("ADA"), ultimately resulting in a complete dismissal of the action with prejudice.
- Represented a financial services corporation in an action brought by a former employee in United States District Court alleging failure to accommodate disabilities in violation of the New Jersey Law against Discrimination ("LAD"), failure to consider accommodations prior to termination in violation of the LAD; and wrongful termination in violation of the LAD.
- Represented a check cashing and financial services company in defense of an action brought by a customer in United States District Court alleging disability discrimination due to existing architectural barriers in violation of Title III of the Americans with Disabilities Act and the New York State Human Rights Law.
- Represented a large retailer in a case alleging failure to have accessible facilities for persons with disabilities in violation of Title III of the Americans with Disabilities Act and the New Jersey Law Against Discrimination ("LAD").

Commercial Matters:
